

Recovery XX

Dear Valued Sponsor,

Greetings from the Co-Chairs of the next Recovery of Biological Products conference (RXX). For four decades this invitation-only conference series has been acknowledged as the leading international forum for the presentation and discussion of new insights and advances in the purification of biological products. It provides an unparalleled opportunity to learn of the latest developments in downstream processing and an open forum for scientific and intellectual exchange among leaders of industry, government, and academia. Conference topics represent the diverse challenges our industry faces, whether related to emerging modalities or anticipating future directions.

The reputation of this not-for-profit conference series is based upon key hallmarks: a consistently high-quality scientific program, participation of the top experts and technical leaders within the biological products purification field, and engaging events and activities that provide opportunities for networking, intellectual exchange and creativity.

RXX, the 20th meeting in this series, will continue the popular format of oral presentations, workshops and posters and will be held in 2024 at a North American venue to be determined. Conference attendees will have meals together and participate in group activities that stimulate the networking and relationship-building for which these conferences are noted.

The successful delivery of RXX is crucially dependent upon contributions from our industry partners. A generous contribution is essential to ensure an interactive meeting with a healthy balance of industrial and academic participation. Your sponsorship helps offset the cost for academic participants as well as other costs.

Specifically, the benefits of corporate sponsorship are:

- Access to the latest case studies from industry
- Opportunity for networking with industry partners, clients and top academic researchers
- Your logo on the conference website linked to your company
- Acknowledgment in the conference announcements and program

To sponsor, please complete the “Commitment to Sponsorship” form indicating your commitment and donation details (for example if you would like to spread your donation across multiple fiscal years). For US corporations, all contributions are tax deductible according to the rules and requirements of Section 70 of the US Tax Code. For other related questions please contact Precision Meetings & Events by calling 703-967-6507 or emailing recovery@teamprecision.com.

As we plan RXX, we welcome your perspective on the scientific content of the conference. Please do not hesitate to contact any of us with your ideas so that we can shape the next success story in the Recovery Conference Series! Thank you for your consideration.
